Some between Leadville and Gunnison City wanted Detroiter who is penniless, ragged, hungry and discouraged. Four weeks ago he met a Texan man out there and sent his love to all dining friends at home, and also explained that he was in that hard-up condition. He was honest and too particular for that could. He reached Gunnison City without a dollar in his pocket, but with lots of ambition in him, and approached a man with explained:

"I can put you the softest kind of a snap at $4 a day, want you to run one of my faro tables."

"But I an't know the game."

"You can't say, stranger? You must have had a rare bringing up. Out here and don't know faro! Pass on—no time to bother with you!"

The second man applied to for a situation squinted his eyes and took a long look at the Detroiter, and quickly asked:

"Who from?"

"Detroit."

"No use—that's too far East. My pard run off with the company's funds last night, and I kalkerate on payin' somebody about $100 to overtake him and bring me back his skalp. You'd look sweet takin' his trail, you would! You'd better inquire on the next corner."

The next corner was the site of a saloon about to be opened. The proprietor was a six-footer with a revolver on each hip, and in response to the inquiry he said:

"I s'pose you know to pour whisky and weigh dust?"

"Yes."

"Suppose that one of the tough ones comes in after his nip and refuses to hand over?"

"I'll call the police."

"Police be hanged! Every man's his own policeman out here! You must open on him with a shooter and keep pulling the trigger until he falls. The sit's open at $3 a day and found."

"I—I guess I won't take it."

"Then git! No place for milksops around here! Might a-knowed you hadn't any nerve by lookin' at ye!"

The Detroiter made one more effort. This time it was a man who explained:

"I'm glad to see you—sot down a bit. Ye see, there's bad blood between me an a feller called Sandy Tom. We've agreed to drop each other on sight, and we mean business. I want to get the bulge on him, and bein' you're a stranger you can help me. Put this derringer in your pocket and go and shoot Sandy Tom and I've got $300 for ye."

"Why, that would be murder!"

"What of it? Do you expect to hang out around here over a day without doin' any shooting? What was ye raised?"

"In Detroit."

"Git! You haven't any spinal column. You'd better run home to your ma, you had. Don't ye go—so long!"

WHO SENT THE LETTER.

"Now I wonder who this can be from," said Mr. Bozley, as he came back to the breakfast table with a letter which the postman had just delivered.

"What's the postmark?" queried Mrs. Bozley.

"I—I can't quite make out whether it's Chicago or Chautauqua," slowly replied the head of the family, as he held the missive alternately close to his eyes and afar off, and wrinkled his brow in his efforts to make out the hieroglyphics.

"Gimme see it," said Mrs. B., snatching it out of his hand. "Why, it's no more like Chicago than you're like Adonis. It's—it's—"

"Well? It's—"

"Why, it looks like Kalamazoo, when you hold it this way," she went on, with a perceptible diminution of confidence, however, "but when you turn it round, it—um-m-n-not exactly like Milwaukee—but anyhow, 'taint Chicago—nor that other place."

Here Master George, aged 10, deemed it incumbent on himself to say, "Mebbe it's from Uncle Dan, and he's comin' to see us and bring that goat he promised me."

"I do wish, child, you'd stop calling him Uncle Dan. Whatever possessed ma to give my brother that name I can't imagine. But 'taint from your Uncle Webster, child."

"No, 'taint from Dan 'cause Cleveland is spelled with a C, and he always spells it with a K," gesarks Mr. B., in confirmation, and is rewarded by a withering glance from his partner.

"Gimme look at it," says Miss Stella, aged 16.

And the mysterious envelope is passed over to her.

"Law!" she says, after critically examining it, "I'll bet it's from Consin Philip. Oh, dear, I hope it is, and he's coming to see us this summer—he's so funny."

"My nephew never wrote such a scrawl as that," said Mrs. B., somewhat warmly; "it's more like some of your father's side."

"Your father's side, as you call 'em," retorted Mr. B., flushing up, "know how to spell, any way, and what's more, we never had red hair in the family until I got married, and—"

And Mrs. B., with a scream, dropped into a chair, and hysterics cut off further debate.

When she finally consented to allow them to bring her to, after all the approved remedies had been brought into requisition, Mr. B. proceeded to set at rest all surmises regarding the epistle by the novel method of opening and reading it; and when it proved to be a dunning letter from that odious Mrs. Trivett, who does the family sewing, he fiercely crumpled it up in his hand and muttered something that sounded like "Idiots!" and, though Mrs. B. and the children don't know to a certainty who were meant, they had their suspicions.

Last Sunday an up-town pastor addressed his congregation in behalf of foreign missions. When well warmed up to his work he exclaimed: "Look at China! Look at Indiana—I mean India," and went on with his theme, a smile on every face.

A certain lawyer was compelled to apologize to the court. With stately dignity he rose in his place and said: "Your Honor is right and I am wrong, as your Honor generally is." The judge hardly knew whether to feel happy or fine the lawyer for contempt of court.

The story is told at Williamsport, Pa., of a young man who went to the Black Hills to seek his fortune, and wrote back to his father that he had done well, but added: "I will be home on Wednesday evening. Meet me at dark, just out of town, and bring a blanket or a whole pair of trousers with you. I have a hat."

Remarkable Recovery of a Lady who was Pronounced Beyond Hope of Recovery.

A well-known business man, of New Hartford, Conn., writes as follows to Dr. David Kennedy, of Bondout, N. Y.: "A few months ago I let a neighbor of ours have some of your 'Favorite Remedy' out of a bottle, as we kept it in the house, to try for some transient trouble. That neighbor induced a sister-in-law, who lay almost at the point of death, to test its efficacy for her disease. For weeks previous she could not eat anything without experiencing great distress, and the medicine given her by her physicians afforded no help, and often seemed to increase her distress. It was thought she had Cancer of the Stomach, and at the time of which I write friends had sent for her pastor to make what it was believed would be his last call. This lady recovered, and is now comparatively well, and says she would not be without 'Kennedy's Favorite Remedy,' no matter what its cost might be. You cannot advertise it too highley." Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is specific for all Diseases of the Blood, such as the ills peculiar to females, and is invaluable in all Diseases of the Kidneys and Liver. When once known no family be without it. "Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy" for sale by all druggists.

THE

New York Life

Insurance Company.

OLD, PROSPEROUS, SAFE, LARGE, STRONG, PURELY MUTUAL.

Assets, $39,000,000

Surplus, 7,600,000

45,000 Policies in Force.

TEN FACTS.

1. A Large and Strong Company.

The New York Life has age and the stability which brings success. It has been in operation over thirty-five years, and at the beginning of 1880 had over 45,000 policies in force, covering over $127,000,000 in insurance. For the security of the policies the Company held nearly thirty nine millions dollars, being $164,000 over every $100 of liabilities by the state standard.

2. A Purely Mutual Company.

The New York Life is one of the few purely mutual life companies in this country, a company owned and managed by the policyholders themselves, in their own interests, with no stockholders to share the profits or interfere in the management, to the prejudice of the insured. It affords insurance at current cost with absolute security.

3. A Liberal and Progressive Company.

The New York Life in 1860 originated and introduced the non-forfeiture system of policies, since adopted, in part or in some form, by every life company. It anticipated the New York State Law on the subject, in time by over nine teen years, and in liberality to the insured by giving more than the law requires.

4. A Rapidly Growing Company.

The last ten years include the six years of depression that followed the panic of 1873; yet during these ten years the increase in the Company's assets has been nearly three-fold, and the increase in surplus and interest receipts over three-fold. During this time the annual disbursements to policyholders have risen from $2,538,309 to $4,848,460, and have aggregated the inconceivable sum of forty million dollars ($40,284,203). Its interest receipts alone have been upward of fifteen millions and have more than paid its death-losses.

5. A Solid and Vigorous Company.

The New York Life has held its business, in spite of the "hard times," better than any other prominent company. The falling off among these was from the highest point reached, forty millions, 1873, has been nearly twenty per cent. on an average, both of income and insurance in force; while in the New York Life the falling off has been only one per cent. of insurance in force, and less than one-half of one per cent. of insurance in force.

6. A Wide-Awake Company.

The New York Life has issued over 140,000 policies, insuring over $430,000,000. It has received over $85,000,000 in premiums and nearly $28,000,000 in interest and rents. It has paid over $30,000,000 in death-claims, and returned over $31,000,000 to living policyholders. The amount of its present assets, plus its payments to policyholders and their families, exceeds the sum received from them by nearly six million dollars.

7. A Well-Managed Company.

Its management was never more vigorous, skillful, and prudent than at present. Its report for the year ending January 1st, 1880, shows almost unparalleled prosperity—a large increase in assets; a large increase in surplus; a large increase in premium receipts; a large increase in interest receipts; a large increase in policies and insurance, issued and in force; and a decrease in death-losses, resulting from a careful selection of lives and consequent low mortality rate.

8. A Company with A No. 1 Securities.

The securities of the New York Life are of the very highest order, the interest on which is collected when due. The entire amount of its uncollected interest, including the amount accrued or earned but not yet due, upon its investments January 1st, 1880, was but $317,000 11. This was only about eight-tenths of one per cent. of the Company's entire assets, being the lowest ratio of any prominent company and an enviable contrast with some. At the date above given its bonds and stocks were worth nearly a million dollars more than cost.

9. A Prudent Company.

In estimating its liabilities the Company employs the severest standard used in this country. Security being the sine qua non in life insurance, the New York Life calculates its reserve fund on the supposition that it will be able to realize in future but four per cent. interest; and thus keeps this fund over four million dollars larger than is required by the law by which its solvency is tested. Hence, no unusual losses, no sudden depression in the prices of securities, no panic, no hard times, nor all of these combined can so reduce its surplus as seriously to embarrass the Company.

10. A Good Company to Insure in.

The policies of the New York Life are notable for their freedom from vexatious restrictions; the customs of the Company with respect to payment of premiums, etc., are plainly stated, and efforts are made to encourage and to enable every honest policyholder to keep up his policy; in the settlement of claims by death the greatest liberality consistent with justice is ever shown, as the grateful acknowledgements of hundreds of beneficiaries abundantly testify. By its liberal construction of the policy contract in cases that might have been resisted on technical grounds it has gained the reputation of being is yet but imperfectly understood by thousands of good housekeepers. The numerous devices of friction rollers, pounders, squeezers, dashers, agitators, steam washing-rollers, etc., have all failed in one or more of the three essential points, namely: The saving of labor, wear and tear of clothes, or in imperfectly extracting the dirt and discoloration.

WHAT IS IT REMOVES THE DIRT?

You may ask washerwomen and housekeepers, and your answer from nine out of ten will be, "Plenty of elbow grease," or, in other words, laborious rubbing upon the wash-board. And such is the case; for you must rub in order to make the dirt and filth pull does that remove it? No; to do that you must first dip it into the water and rub repeatedly to force water through the fabric, again and again. That is what removes dirt after having been softened by the chemical action of the soap.

The way in which this could be most economically accomplished has been developed in the Family Washer and Bleacher, which embodies all the above points.

THE PRINCIPLE OF THE WASHER AND BLEACHER

embodies all the essential points. First, we have the desired heat which expands the fabric and causes it to discharge the dirt. Second, we obtain a powerful suction beneath the clothes, which produces a rapid downward current of water force, through and through them, thereby removing the dirt. Third, we use a large body of water, which holds the dirt in solution. Fourth, we use but a small quantity of soap. Fifth, the washing is done by water, and not by steam.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF THE WASHER AND BLEACHER IS THIS.

We have 5 lbs. of metal, which attains a much greater degree of heat than the water surrounding it, consequently the water underneath the Washer becomes hotter and more expansive than in any other part of the boiler, and is thereby driven to the surface through the tube at the rate of six to eight gallons per minute, thus tending to produce a vacuum underneath the Washer at the bottom of the boiler, into which the water is rapidly drawn.

THE IMPROVED WASHER

has a perfect fitting pipe, and is a combination of metals which does not become sticky or dirty. It comes out of the boiler as bright as new.

THE CAPACITY OF THE WASHER AND BLEACHER.

There are two sizes—No. 1, the Family size; No. 2, suitable for small hotels, restaurants, and barber-shops, boarding-houses, etc.

The Washer is composed of metal and cannot get out of order.

It will work in any flat bottom boiler. It takes only three or four ounces of soap in ten or twelve gallons of water, and will wash bed or table linen, a bellerful in ten or fifteen minutes, wearing apparel in from ten to thirty minutes. Use no chemicals—only good soap and soft water.

For Lace Curtains this Washer is invaluable. It cleanses them as no other process can without the slightest danger or injury.
